

"I HAVE NO VACATION"

THIS IS A SAD SOUND TO MANY WEARY EARS.

Here are Some Very Valuable Hints for Those People Who are Compelled to Stay in Town and Work and Endure During the Hot Season.

"No vacation this year."

I hear this expression every day just now.
In these times of unsettled business and close money few people can afford to take the needed rest. Unfortunately, men, women, and, alas, even children, are compelled to stay in the city to watch and work and become weary in the hot, crowded, and unwholesome surroundings. They are compelled to live in the city.

It is bad enough to have to stand the heat, but to work and sweat and become weaker every day—this is terrible.

The first effect of all of this is on the nerves. We all like "unracing up," and this is often the worst thing. Drinking stimulants and narcotics is dangerous.

Dear reader, don't make any mistake for example, like "unracing up," and "unracing down," the strength of nerve power, everything, all that we have, is nerve power. Nerve power will admit, but you need it, you need help. It is not a matter of "unracing up," it is a matter of recovery, invention, science can give you. You can't "unracing up," you can't "unracing down," you that the best and most advanced people in the world agree that nothing has ever been done to help the nerves, the nervous system, new life, and bring the happiness of health but the great discovery, Faine's curley compound.

I know what I am saying when I advise as above. I know what I am saying when I advise women, and many children, who are now the might, strong, and healthy, entirely because of the great discovery, Faine's curley compound.

of a hundred that I personally know of who have been killed in the war, and I have lost a true friend. It is not necessary that I have lost a true friend, but I will give you their names: Gen. Alexander Hays, a son of the man whose name he bears; Mr. John Haskely, the well-known merchant opposite the New York State Office; Mr. P. P. Porter, Minister to the score, even such great athletes as George Wright and E. W. Hetherington.

Remember me to all, and make a rest or vacation this summer, but you may be able to keep yourself well, healthy, and happy.—Adm.

OBITUARY.

Commodore Samuel Loekwood, an old-time Commodore of the United States Navy, died at his home, 201 Madison street, New York, on Monday morning, in his 90th year. He was a son of Thomas St. John Loekwood, and was born in Connecticut. When he was 17 years old he entered the navy, and in 1823 served on the sloop of war Warren. In 1828 he was made a Master, and in 1847 and 1848 he had command of the steamers Albatross and Porpoise, and assisted in the capture of Vera Cruz and Tabasco. He became a Commander in 1850 and a Commodore seven years later. At the breaking out of the civil war he was in command of the commodore's blockade-fleet and had charge of the blockading at Wilmington, Beaufort, York River, and the entrance to the Chesapeake. He was in charge of Fort Mifflin, on Oct. 1, 1864, he was retired on account of his age. In 1842 he was married to Marie Dunbar of New Bedford. She had four children, three of whom are now survivors are: Thomas S. Lockwood, who connected with the commission house of Parker, Wilde & Co. of New York and Boston; Samuel Lockwood, who lives in Flushing; Mrs. Clarence L. Westcott, and Miss Emma H. Lockwood. The burial will be made in the family homestead in Fallburg, Sullivan county, this State.

Joseph Fallert, a well-known Williamsburgh brewer, died at a watering place in Baden, Germany, on Tuesday. Intelligence of his

Mr. Kelly lived at his home in 140 Broadway, New York City, until he died at the age of 84 years old, when he went to Europe a few years ago. He was a member of the Lager Beer brewers' Board of Trade, United States Brewers Association, and the National Association of Brooklyn and Queens Mercantile and Social organizations.

The Hon. Moses Kelly, ex-Secretary of the Interior, died in Washington on Monday, April 24, 1874. Mr. Kelly was from New Hampshire. He was appointed Secretary of the Interior in President Pierce's Administration, entered the public service in 1853, and held the position until Buchanan's term of office was appointed Secretary of the Treasury to fill out the term of Mr. Cass. He died at his home in New York, a few years his health failed and he lived in retirement.

Mr. Baylis died on Tuesday at his home, 252 Henry street, Brooklyn, in his 100th year. He made a fortune in the hardware business and was one of the founders of the South Brooklyn Savings Bank and the College of the Holy Cross in Boston. He died two years ago. He was a director of the Long Island Savings Bank. His only son, John Baylis, is at present on his way to Europe.

James S. Wright, for a long time stage manager at the Summer Palace, died at his home a few days ago at the age of 70 years. At one time he acted as director of amusements at the Palace.

Several years previous to his death he had lived in retirement in this city.

Charles Holman, a wealthy contractor and builder of Holman, died there on Tuesday night of paresis at the age of 55. He became a resident of Holman when it was founded, and he owned the building the Neptune House and other hotels and many of the finest cottages in the town.

John W. Martin, who made a fortune in the commission business in Hoboken, died yesterday at his summer cottage in Asbury Park, where he had been taken for his health. He was 84 years old.

John W. Martin, ex-Collector of the Port of New York and ex-Democratic State Commissioner of Education, who lived at the "Roland Springs, Mo., where he was stopping or his health.

Henry G. Clayton, a lawyer of Asbury Park, died yesterday of complications of diseases. He was born in Holmdel in 1840.

Fredrick A. Small died at Muchiasport, Me., yesterday, aged 53 years. He was one of the best-known shipmasters in the State.

They Want the Geary Law Enforced.

The meeting of the Executive Council of the Marine Federation of Labor at 14 Clinton place ended yesterday. A resolution was unanimously adopted by the members to go to Washington and make a protest to President Cleveland against the non-enforcement of the Eight-hour law for government employees. The Council has also instructed a protest against any attempt of the Senate to nullify the Geary Chinese Exclusion law.

Brooklyn's Budget for 1894.

The budget for 1894, as approved by the Board of Estimate, was presented yesterday to the Board of Aldermen in Brooklyn and recommended by the latter body. It foots up a total of $10,800,825. The county budget amounts to $2,991,473. The Water and Drainage Committee reported the water budget for the year ending May 1, 1894, at $1,027,810, and it was approved.

Mrs. S. W. White
Tells of a family blessing.
Thus she writes to Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I suffered for 10 years with female complaints of the worst form, accompanied by severe spinal trouble, causing incessant backache, weakness of the stomach, and nervousness.

MRS. S.W. WHITE

"I gave up all hope of ever being well again. Just then I began to take:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I followed your directions and treatment until I am now a perfectly

"I gave it to my two daughters, aged 14 and 16 years, and they are fine, healthy girls.
"It is surely a blessing to our family."—816 Holly St., West Philadelphia, Pa.

All druggists sell it. Address in confidence: WILLIAM L. BRYMAN, Medicineville, Me.